Description
Beginning in API 21 with the material theme, Google automatically uses a skinny, padded drawable for indeterminate horizontal progress bars. They make this very difficult to override. Perhaps once API >= 21 this will be easier, because one will not have to reference <code>style="?android:attr/progressBarStyleHorizontal"</code> to select the correct progress bar style for pre and post material devices. At that point, perhaps <code>@android:drawable/progress_horizontal_material</code> will be accessible. Currently, only <code>@android:drawable/progress_horizontal</code> can be referenced.
